ARSON.—A colored man named William Whinnis was brought down from Salt Spring Island yesterday upon a charge of having fired a barn belonging to Wm. Harrison, a farmer on that island, thereby causing its destruction. Harrison had beaten Whinnis and the latter adopted this mode of revenge. The commitment papers were laid before the Grand Jury yesterday and an indictment found, upon which the prisoner will be arraigned before the Court of Assize.

BUTE INLET ROAD.—Mr Waddington has received a communication from the Government, stating that the Executive Council has agreed to the proposition of increasing the number of acres to be awarded the Bute Inlet Road Company. The road is also announced feasible. Mr Waddington, yesterday morning, dispatched a cable telegram to London containing the satisfactory intelligence, and the spring will scarcely have opened before the first link in the great British overland railway will have been commenced.

THE SHERIFFALTY.—Governor Seymour has officially replied to the mammoth petition from the citizens of Victoria praying that Sheriff Adamson might be returned.
The reply states that the appointment of Mr Adamson was of a temporary character, and that a gentleman who already held under Government one office has been appointed to the position.

FEMALE INFIRMARY.—The last lecture of the course will be delivered by the Ven Archdeacon Gilson this evening, at the Boys' Collegiate School. The subject chosen is "The Catacombs of Rome." The last entertainment of the series will be on Tuesday evening next, when a grand concert by amateur vocalists will given at the theatre.

LAST CHANCE.—The entire stock of Brund's fine clothing, hats, caps and gentlemen's furnishings goods, must be sold within two weeks. In order to give the citizens a chance to purchase, sovereigns will be accepted at $5 and greenbacks at San Francisco current rates. Yates Street, opposite the Bank of British North America.

THE THEATRE.—There was lots of fun and music at the Theatre last night. The walls of the building resounded with mirth and jollity. The bill was one of the best ever presented here, and the Marshes, Miss Arnot, Tom Lafont, and the remainder of the troupe won golden opinions. This evening a rare bill will be produced.

THE PIXLEY'S AT ESQUIMALT.—The talented Pixley Family, assisted by the Esquimalt Amateurs, will appear this evening in Thompson's hall. They are deserving of a crowded house; and we hope the Esquimalters will turn out in full force on the occasion.

FROM THE SOUND.—The steamer Eliza Anderson arrived at 12:30 o'clock last night.

The steamer New World leaves Portland to-morrow for Victoria.

tion of the Board of Delegates, requests all members of the Fire Department to appear on Friday evening in fatigue uniform.

The Assizes.
(Before Chief Justice NEWMAN.)
MONDAY, Feb. 18.
His Lordship took his seat at 10 o'clock.
The following named gentlemen were enumerated as Grand Jury—J. G. Sheppard (foreman), J. M. Work, J. J. O'Connell, J.
L. Stewart, T. L. Stahl, J. H. Macdonald, J. L. Leveue, J. P. Davies, T. P. Richards, J.
H. Duane, J. H. Turner, J. W. Price, G. J.
Stewart, G. J. Plady, A. Franklin, A.
Langley, J. Lowe, J. C. Nicholson, F.
Roscoe, C. W. R. Thompson, M. T. Johnston, J. Russell.

The Chief Justice addressed the jury as to the number of cases and the enormity of the offences charged, and the grand jurors retired to their room to deliberate; entering, after a short interval, with an indictment against Henry Williams, for assault and rape, on the persons of Mrs. and Miss Fred disson, on the Sanich road. The prisoner (a good-looking man), who was detained by Mr. Ring, pleaded guilty, and threw himself upon the mercy of the Court.

His Lordship then proceeded to pass sentence, remarking that it is not many years ago since this crime was punishable with death, but in accordance with the statutes now existing, the sentence of the Court was penal servitude for life.

The Grand Jury having brought in a true bill against George Phillips, for larceny.
T. accused was brought up and pleaded Not Guilty.

The Solicitor General prosecuted and Mr D. B. Ring, instructed by Mr. Copland, defended.

It appeared that a Mr James Dawson has a house at Shawangin, in which he had deposited certain articles, which the prisoner was alleged to have stolen; he saw them quite safe the night before two burglars took place, but missed them on the following morning; as also a boat and the prisoner, who had been observed loitering about the evening before. Concluding as to the direction the prisoner would take, Dawson gave chase, accompanied by two Kanakas, having procured another boat and captured Phillips in Admiral Bay. A man named McDonald attempted to capture an Indian, an accomplice of Phillips, but was met with serious resistance he was compelled, for his own safety, to stab the Swah, who died.

The witnesses, John Leveue and the two Kanakas, were then called, but not necessary to their names. His Lordship ordered the bill in each case to be returned, and the case adjourned. The total amount of bail given by the witnesses only amounted to $450.

A true bill was brought in by the Grand Jury against Charley, an Indian, for murder; but as the Solicitor General was not ready to proceed with the case, it was adjourned till to-morrow.

The Grand Jury having found a true bill against John Holder, for manslaughter.—The prisoner pleaded not guilty; he was defended by Mr Robertson; the Solicitor General prosecuting. The latter, in opening the case, said the circumstances were very simple: the prisoner had indulged in liquor to an excessive extent, which produced delirium tremens. The unfortunate man Harrop had gone to Holder's house, in order to prevent his doing any harm to himself or others, and unfortunately became the victim. Harrop, in his dying declaration, stated his conviction that Holder committed the act when he was not compos mentis.

Mr Thackeray was called, and deposed to writing deceased's name to declaration, when deceased affixed his mark; he was present with the Stipendiary Magistrate at that time; he wrote the declaration; Harrop died one week after he had signed it.

Charles Coulter, labourer, sworn—Lives at Comox; knew prisoner since last May; he remained with Holder on the 29th and 30th of December; the two nights before Harrop was shot, and being in much need of rest, he sent for Harrop to relieve him. During the time that he remained with Holder, the latter complained that some persons wanted to come into his house and murder him, and begged witness to remain with him, as he was afraid of staying alone; he remained that night, Holder getting up to enquire what noise that was that he heard; witness had not heard any noise, in the morning, went Harrop down to Holder's, and afterwards went down in the evening; he talked and sang and saw a man named Mitchell there; advised Mitchell to go home.
He was awake during the night by the sound of fire arms; went out to see, but everything was quiet; saw Holder about 11 o'clock, saw Harrop lying on the floor along the counter with some blankets upon him; asked Harrop what was the matter; he said, Holder has shot me; Holder was walking backward and forward, and pointing at Harrop, said, "what woman is that?" told him it was Harrop; proposed to send for Mr. Robb; sent an Indian, and said till Robb and his son came; Holder was much excited, and grasped at things.

Cross-examined by Mr Robertson—Holder had been to a justification two weeks before and appeared the worse of liquor; two days after Holder said he would knock off drinking—his hands shook very much; he talked about losing money in his business—and said he was afraid of Mitchell, Fahy and Bailey; said they wanted to get in and shoot him; he only slept half an hour at a time when I was with him; the other men who were with him tied his hands and legs; had observed Holder with an axe trying to knock nails into a barrel; induced him to give it up; subsequently Holder got a chisel knife which I also took away from him; heard no shots after Harrop was hurt; the shots must have been fired inside the house; don't know anything to Holder's prejudice; Harrop had no quarrel with Holder that was known; they were next neighbours, and always appeared good friends.

James Robb, farmer at Comox, sworn—Was well acquainted with Harrop; had known Holder 18 months; was sent for to Holder's store on the 1st January, at half-past 8 in the morning; saw Holder afterwards about 12 o'clock, in house adjoining store; Holder had something unusual about his appearance; he was bound to the wall—had his hands tied behind, and his legs were bound; his eyes protruded from his head, and had a glazed appearance; several sisters who had present expressed great sympathy for Harrop.

Cross-examined by Mr Robertson—Always found Holder civil and obliging; never knew any one that was not on good terms with Holder. Witness brought Harrop down to Victoria—Holder came with them, and always showed the greatest regret for Harrop's misfortune; was always very kind, and helped me to move Harrop, who had to be moved frequently.

Dr. Davis—Had made a post mortem examination of the deceased man Harrop; found a mark like a gun shot wound in the head; traced the course of the ball through the left ribs and discovered the ball now produced; the effect of the wound was to produce great nervous depression, concussion of the spinal column and would probably destroy life; immediate effects were inflammation of the pleura and bowels.

Cross-examined by Mr Robertson—Delirium tremens was produced by excessive depression followed by over excitement, and subsequent exhaustion from stimulants.
The evidence of the brain was followed by a species of temporary insanity with incapacity for self control; witness was examined at considerable length by the learned counsel and the Chief Justice, all however, resulting in the above conclusions.
Mr Robertson, in an eloquent address, pointed out the tendency of the evidence as showing clearly that the accident occurred not from the immediate effects of drink, but from the disease of the brain which supervened; that consequently he was unconscious of what he did and could not be held any more accountable than an idiot.

Campbell Price was then called for the defence. He had known the prisoner 18 months; so days previous to the accident Holder called at witness' house, which is two and a half from Holder's store; he had an Indian with him; betumbled very much; asked incoherently about sailing in a boat; said he saw creeping things about the ground, believed there were Indians in the trees who wanted to shoot him; saw him the day after the accident bound; he still talked incoherently; when he came to my house did not smell of liquor, nor appear to be drunk; nor did I observe any appearance of liquor when I saw him after the accident.
He wrote a note to me which I have now, it is dated 31st December; I received it the same day; the effect of it was that J. J.
Hart was to take charge of his box of clothes if he got killed that day and take them down to Victoria for disposal; another note was found on Holder's counter, the contents of which were equally extraordinary, he always considered him a steady, sober man.

Jules Rueff—Knew prisoner six years; he had been three years in witness' employ; knew him to be a most humane and kind hearted man.

Louis L'Hotelier—Knew the prisoner during the three years he was in the employ of Spargor & Rueff; always noted him as a sober, steady young man; although very strong, he was as gentle as a child; feared him drink, as witness dealt in liquors, but prisoner always refused.

T. Harris—Knew prisoner for several years; had a good opportunity of judging him and thought him a most exemplary young man. J. P. Davies sworn—Had known Holder for about 3 years, and gave him a good character for sobriety and kindly disposition.

Dr. Davis, sworn—Testified to the symptoms of delirium tremens, and to the likelihood of persons injuring their friends as well as enemies.

David Leveue sworn—Gave the accused an excellent character, and supposed him to be about the last man to commit so grave an offence.

John Ross sworn—Came from England in the same ship with the prisoner; he behaved quietly and appeared to be of a kindly disposition.

Sheriff Adamson sworn—Prisoner made an assignment of his effects in November last; one of his assignees, he seemed to be much affected by his fate.

J. R. Carmichael sworn—Knew prisoner well; came to the country with him; he was kind, benevolent and unassuming his character was excellent.

The Solicitor General briefly addressed the jury on behalf of the prosecution, and said that it was for the jury to find whether the act was committed while the prisoner was laboring under an illusion which rendered him irresponsible for his acts.

Mr Robertson followed in an able address on behalf of the prisoner, claiming an acquittal on the ground of the insanity, not partial, but total insanity. The evidence showed that he was not sane at the time; he taunted that some persons were about to take away his life; he had fired off pistols and guns for two days, he complained that Indians were about to shoot him, that little devils were attempting to take his life. He was crazy on the one point that some one was trying to take his life. The learned counsel quoted from a decision as to the irresponsibility of a person who was crazy upon one point.

The Chief Justice—Justice Small differed with the other judges on that point.
Mr Robertson—Yes my lord, but this is the opinion of the majority of the judges.
Holder did not even know his friend from a woman when he saw him lying on the floor, and he wrote two letters, the incoherent tenor of which showed that his mind was shattered. When the whole thing was over, when reason resumed her sway, we find him overhauling his wounded friend with kindness and attention. The character of the prisoner was irreproachable, he had been shown to have a kind, benevolent disposition, and was it likely that a man noted for his humanity would be guilty of a deliberate murder?

The Chief Justice in summing up said that the killing of Henry Harrop by the prisoner was admitted; on that point, the verdict must be guilty. The question of sane or insane at the time of committing the act rested with the jury to decide. If a man in a state of drunkenness commits a crime he is responsible in the eyes of the law; he cannot set up the plea of drunkenness as an excuse for his act. If a man be in a state of mental aberration flowing from drunkenness, if he be only partially insane from such a cause and commits a crime, he is still responsible for his acts. The jury must throw aside every feeling of sympathy, and must consider the case impartially. The dying man acquitted the prisoner of a malevo-lent motive, but there was a singular circumstance connected with the homicide to which the jury must give weight. Holder fired off all the barrels but one and the turned said "I've one barrel left for you and fires and wounds the man. It was a question whether he thought Harrop was breaking into the house, or whether he knew him and intended to kill him. The act of covering up the wounded man seems to show that Holder was aware of the crime he had committed and that action taken in connection with the remark, "I've one barrel left for you," his lordship said, he was bound to tell the jury did not show Holder to have been in a state of mind that would justify a verdict of insanity. Two nights before the homicide the prisoner asks a friend to come and sleep with him to protect him from imaginary danger; that request was a high test of sanity. Harrop came down to take care of Holder on the night of the shooting. The prisoner appears to have been of a humane disposition, and to have lost in business, and took to excessive drinking, which he continued till within two days of the shooting, when he stopped and did not drink a drop. His lordship continued to remark upon the evidence, and said that unless the prisoner had satisfied the jury that he was in a state of mind that rendered him irresponsible for his acts, they were bound to find against him on the question of insanity. His lordship lastly alluded to Dr. Davis' evidence, who was of opinion that Holder might have known the tendency of his disease, and yet be fully aware of what he was doing. The jury had to find—1st. A verdict of guilty of manslaughter; 2d. Whether the prisoner was sane or insane at the time of committing the act.

The jury here retired, and returned a verdict of guilty of manslaughter while laboring under temporary insanity. The prisoner was then remanded to await the pleasure of Her Majesty.

A New and Grand Epoch in Medicine.
Dr. MAGGIE'S PILLS are the foundation of a new Medical system.
The human system, whose vast internal forces enfold the stomach and paralyze the bowels, must give precedence to the man who restores health and appetite, with from one to two of his extraordinary Pills, and cures the most violent sores with a box or so of his wonderful and all-healing Salve. These two great specifics of the Factor are fast superseding all the stereotyped nostrums of the day. Extraordinary cures by Maggie's Pills and Salve have cured the eyes of the blind, the inefficiency of the (so-called) remedies of others, and upon which people have so long blindly depended. Maggie's Pills are not of the class that are swallowed by the dozen, and which every box full taken creates an absolute necessity for another. One or two of Maggie's Pills suffices to place the bowels in perfect order, tone the stomach, create an appetite, and render the system light and buoyant.
There is no griping, and no reaction in the form of constipation. If the liver is diseased, its functions are restored, and the nervous system is feeble, it is invigorated.
The best quality makes the medicine very desirable for the wants of delicate females. Uterine and eruptive diseases are literally extinguished by the disintegrating power of Maggie's Salve. In fact, it is here announced that Maggie's Bilious, Dyspeptic and Diarrhoea Pills cure where all others fail. While for Rheumatism, Chills, Cuts, and all ailments of the skin Maggie's Salve is infallible. Sold by J. MAGGIE, 1 Vine Street, New York, and all Druggists, at 50 cents a box.

HOWEY'S OINTMENT.—Scabs, wounds, ulcers and other diseases affecting the skin, are amenable by this colling and healing ointment. It has called forth the loud praises from persons who had suffered for years from bad legs, abscesses and chronic ulcers, after every hope of cure had long passed away. None but those who have experienced the soothing effect of this ointment can form an idea of the comfort it bestows. By restraining inflammation and allaying pain. Whenever this ointment has been once used, it has established its own worth, and has again been eagerly sought for as the most and most ready remedy for all internal complaints. In a scald, a burn, a wound, or a sore, the same application properly used, gives wonderful relief.
